ROCHESTER IS PROUD OF HONOLULU'S CALL

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle says:

To Rochester belongs the honor of having one of the first authorities on civic art in this country, Charles Mulford Robinson, whose advice is sought by the greatest of American cities, and who has just been called from Honolulu to advise with a younger branch of the American people as to how to beautify the already beautiful Hawaiian capital.

This invitation to Mr. Robinson comes through the president of Oahu College in Honolulu. After reading Mr. Robinson's books, "Improvements of Towns and Cities," and "Modern Civic Art," the college president conferred with the Honolulu Board of Supervisors and the Art Association of Honolulu, and devised a plan where by certain projected public improvements should be made on lines laid down by a specialist. Mr. Robinson calls himself a "civic adviser." It is in this capacity that he will go to Honolulu. Honolulu has a park system, and several of its smaller parks are described by travelers as being especially beautiful. The city has been called the Paradise of the Pacific, and the city fathers are to make of it a paradise whose beauty none shall forget. Especially will Mr. Robinson be called upon to give advice as to beautifying and changing of city streets.
